
futurebound
changing the future of child development

Futurebound lives at the intersection of existing networks and fields of thought in Colorado. We work to connect people with shared interests from different backgrounds so that collectively we can drive innovation and positive impact for the development of young children.