Back End Developer Job Description Template

Job Overview

We are looking for a Back End Developer who is analytically driven and able to improve current back-end applications and procedures. You would be working closely with various members such as UI Designers, Engineers, and Full Stack Developers to ensure better customer experience. The responsibilities include developing and maintaining an efficient website for seamless user experience. You should be able to understand codes and programming languages as well as work in a team.

Job Responsibilities for Back End Developer

As a Back End Developer, you will be expected to perform tests for back end elements to make sure processes are as fast as possible. You will be required to liaise with developers, designers, engineers as well as administrators to improve and develop new features. You would be expected to build a more experienced and better program. As a Back End Developer, you must have good knowledge of data security and compliance..

- Engage in coding and debugging
- Work on the application lifecycle
- Perform UI tests to improve user experience
- Develop new features by understanding and monitoring industry trends
- Report data to required parties
- Build various codes and libraries for the future
- Maintain and upgrade existing user experience
- Work closely with front end developers and designers to create comprehensive solutions for business needs
- Gather and assess various design requirements
- Learn new technologies and practices
- Lead multiple projects simultaneously
- Provide training to internal teams
- Optimise performance by managing cutting edge technologies

Back End Developer Engineer Salaries

- A person working as a Back End Developer earns USD 72,000 on average per year. Salaries range from USD 34,000 being the lowest to USD 98,000 being the highest.
- The exact salary is however dependent on the company, location and nature of the employer’s business

Back End Developer Job Qualifications

The basic qualifications required to be considered for the position of a Back End Developer include:

- Either a Bachelor's degree in Computer Science, Computer Programming or related field or experience in the industry or both
- Master degree in a similar discipline preferred
- Prior experience of at least five years as a back end developer
- Understanding of web development (design, development and deployment)
- Experience with multiple back end languages

Back End Developer Skills Required

A Back End Developer needs to possess a variety of skills in order to be successful in the work environment - they include both job related technical skills as well as interpersonal traits.

- Understanding of the CMS framework
- Experience with scripting languages such as Java, Ruby or C+
- Understanding of MySQL, SQL and Oracle based databases
- Familiarity with coding languages such as JavaScript, HTML,Python
- Experience with version control systems such as Git, CVS and SVN
- Knowledge of the widely used practices and trends in the industry
- Strong critical problem solving skills
- Knowledge of Laravel, or Express frameworks
- Work independently with minimum supervisions in order to achieve certain benchmarks
- Ability to work under pressure
- Excellent people and managerial skills
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills, both verbal and written
- Work with professionalism and integrity
- Meticulous and diligent attributes
- Ability to work under pressure
- Great user focus and understanding

What to expect as a Back End Developer

To be a Back End Developer, you must possess strong problem solving skills and be focused on continuous performance improvement:

- Hands on experience with project planning
- Opportunity to work with complex issues
- Work and collaborate with various departments and in a team
- Expert advice from professionals in the field and industry