Experience Matters.

Veteran. Councilmember. Former Mayor.
Business Executive. Nonprofit Leader. Parent.

The only woman running to represent us in Congress.

Retiring Congresswoman Jackie Speier leaves big shoes to fill.

Emily Beach Has the Experience to Fill Those Shoes.

Emily's Priorities: Climate Action ▪ Affordable Housing & Homelessness ▪ Mental Health ▪ Reproductive Freedom ▪ Education ▪ Fairness ▪ Equity ▪ Civility

U.S. Army Veteran

Emily was a Captain in the U.S. Army and graduated from the Army Airborne parachute school. While serving overseas in Saudi Arabia and Korea she developed the leadership and team building skills that helped her succeed as a business executive, elected official, and community volunteer. Only 17% of Congress are veterans, the lowest level since World War II. Emily's military experience matters now more than ever.

Environmental Champion

Emily is dedicated to healing our planet and reducing our carbon footprint. She successfully fought to preserve nine acres of open space on the Bayfront. She bikes, takes public transit to work, and champions sustainable infrastructure to protect against wildfires, sea level rise, and floods.

Only Woman Running

Congress has only 27% women, let's not go backward now. With the Supreme Court ruling on reproductive freedom coming this year and several states outlawing choice, we need Emily fighting for women's rights in Congress and building a coalition to codify Roe v. Wade.

Councilmember and Former Mayor

As Mayor of Burlingame, Emily led the effort to raise the minimum wage. Since first elected in 2015, she helped expand investment in public transit, bike lanes, parks, and affordable housing. During the pandemic, Emily created the Burlingame Collaborative to find local solutions to hunger, isolation, and struggling businesses.

Parent and Education Nonprofit Leader

Emily increased local funding for public schools and expanded need-based preschool scholarships, because she believes education is the most powerful investment in our country's future. As a parent of teenagers and a former foster parent, Emily understands the pandemic's impact on students' academic and mental health, and working families.
