

Moulton Bulb Company COVID 19 Company Policy

As a food supply site, it is essential that we can maintain business continuity and supply our customers to help ensure the nation has fresh vegetables during the COVID 19 Crisis. As a result, the business has implemented a series of temporary policies and control measures. These measures are essential to protect you, your families, and our business.

The company continue to review and monitor all guidance from the government as well as continuously re-evaluating our own risk assessments to ensure we can protect all colleagues and maintain supply to help keep the nation fed.

We hope that all colleagues will be community minded and the need to enforce these rules will not be necessary, but we will have to consider more serious enforcement if this is not the case.

COVID 19 is a highly contagious disease and whilst for some it will be a rather unpleasant cold or mild flu for many people both in the community at work, within your friends and families it could be extremely serious and even life limiting.

COVID 19 has the potential to significantly impact our business, as if we have high numbers of staff self-isolating, we will not be able to fulfil orders and help to keep the nation fed. This could have long term implications for us all.

What are we asking you to do?

We all have a role to play in keeping our colleagues, and their families safe whilst maintaining supply. As “key workers” during this crisis we are obliged to take every step possible to maintain business continuity and supply.

1. Make sure you brief colleagues on the key changes regarding social distancing & hygiene.
2. Set the example – make sure you are following the company guidance / rules.
3. If you see colleagues not following the company guidance / rules, please speak with them and explain why it is so important.
4. Make sure that operating procedures and processes standards are maintained.
5. Act responsibly ensure you support colleagues with regards to self-isolation if they have any symptoms.

These policies and changes will remain in effect until further notice

Frequently Asked Questions:

I have forgotten to bring my mask to work, what should I do?

Stay in your car and contact your manager who will issue you with a temporary mask or visor.

I have colleagues that need to self-isolate what will they get paid?

The company have agreed to pay all colleagues that have worked for the company for 3 months of more for 1 period of COVID-19 absence at full pay. Any colleague who is concerned should be asked to contact and speak with the HR team. The company is committed to supporting colleagues through this process.

I have a colleague who wants to wear their own face mask. Colleagues can wear their own masks – however these must be free from foreign bodies, unoffensive in design be changed regularly dependent on the manufacturers guidance or washed daily.

What happens if someone is not wearing a mask/visor?

This would be classed as a breach of both health and safety and company COVID-19 rules which may lead to disciplinary action

A colleague arrives at work with mild symptoms what should I do?

Immediately ask them to go home and self-isolate. Inform HR who will contact them and agree the next course of action.

I notice that some colleagues are working from home why is that when others must be on-site?

Some colleagues have been asked to work away from site. This is to reduce the risk to all of us by reducing the number of people coming onto site, using facilities, and mixing with other colleagues. This will be role dependent and is in line with the government advise.

What additional steps is the company taking about hygiene? The company have changed all contact surface cleaning products to increase the effectiveness against the COVID-19 Virus. We have increased the frequency of cleaning in all areas but especially communal areas - this also includes a daily deep clean disinfection. The company have also increased access to hand washing and sanitiser across the site – frequent hand washing is still the best form of protection for everyone.

Colleagues want to understand about the implications for holidays. Colleagues can still take holiday – however we ask them to follow the current government advice. This includes the isolation requirements on return or local lockdown restrictions within the UK. Colleagues can also cancel holiday and plan to take later in the year if they would prefer.
