

Dominique Moisi is a Senior Adviser at Institut Montaigne. He was a founding member of IFRI (The French Institute for International Affairs). He was the first holder of the Pierre Keller Visiting Chair of Government at Harvard University and a Visiting Professor at King's College London. He is the 2018 recipient of the Spinoza international prize for his work on "The Geopolitics of Emotion".