

Rate Card

Bitstocks offers two distinct charging methods depending on the type of account you hold. Advisory clients are charged a flat performance fee on profits yielded, whilst OTC clients are charged a trade fee based on individual trade amounts and coins.

Advisory Accounts

Advisory accounts are managed by our Portfolio Managers, who will provide guidance in line with your personal investment objectives. Advisory clients entrust Bitstocks to diversify, preserve and grow healthy cryptocurrency portfolio balances.

Performance fee is only due at the point of a trade where profit has been achieved, and not as a daily, monthly, or annual amount.

OTC Accounts

OTC accounts are self-managed as far as portfolio performance goes and Bitstocks acts as a safe intermediary to initiate and close bitcoin trades. OTC clients are not provided with market guidance in terms of recommended portfolio diversification or profitable positions. As such, no performance fee is levied on OTC trades, and we simply apply a dynamic dealing fee.

Dealing Fee

RFQ - Request for quotation

A nominal fee of £30 is deducted from Pound Sterling (GBP) withdrawals to cover bank charges, and is subject to change based on financial institution amendments.

Note: We do not charge a withdrawal fee on XBT withdrawals, but transactions are subject to Bitcoin network fees and will be processed after dealing fee calculations are applied.
