

Pentecostal Development and Relief Partners Covid-19 response report

2020 will be a year remembered by many as the "coronavirus" year. Words such as quarantine, lockdown, travel restrictions, and many others have become part of our everyday vocabulary. This year has brought disruptions, disappointments, and in many places, devastating consequences. However, for the Pentecostal movement, this has also been a Titus 2:1 type of moment... "but as for you". And, as for us, we must continue to respond to the challenges of today.

This year has also been a year of collaboration, cooperation, and peer enrichment. This has been a year of coming together and learning from one another as we strive to serve the least, the last, and the lost across the nations of the earth. We have been able not only to share resources and ideas, but also to unite our hearts, vision, and efforts like never before.

This report is a reflection of our collective journey as Pentecostal practitioners in the relief and development world regarding our overarching response to COVID-19. Nevertheless, there is more. It is likely that the world may never return back to how things used to be. In such changes, there is a major opportunity for the Church to continue to be the greatest change agent in the world! We will continue to act and respond in order to see the hope and love of Jesus Christ reach the neediest places on earth unlike ever before. It is our hope and prayer that we do, and that we do it together.
