The North County African American Women's Association (NCAAWA) is a non-profit, 501 © (3), volunteer organization located in North San Diego County. The organization was formed to celebrate ethnic and racial pride and to explore the beauty and strength of our culture. The Association grew out of a need to provide mentors for women who were participants in the SOLO Project, part of the Carl Perkins 1990 Vocational Education Act. Our organization has grown in its vision by holding Women's Conferences for teens and adults, community activities, and by offering achievement awards and scholarships to students wishing to further their education at a four-year college, community college, trade, technical or graduate school.
