

MARBLE HILL

Introduction

Established in 1974 Marble Hill Fireplaces offer one of the largest and most comprehensive selections of fireplaces in the UK.

Whatever fireplace you choose Marble Hill manufactures each mantel to the highest quality and with the same attention to detail. Period style fireplaces are precise copies of authentic designs, whilst our contemporary fireplaces reflect the clean lines and simplicity that is so popular in interior design today. Our skilled masons select only the finest materials. As the majority of our fireplaces are manufactured in the United Kingdom, our quality is unsurpassed.

With over 3 floors of showrooms you will find a visit to Marble Hill worthwhile. Here you can see our splendid choice of Antique, Reproduction and Contemporary mantels, fire-baskets, gas fires, mirrors and accessories.

Our fully trained consultants will be happy to advise you on the technical and aesthetic aspects of your fireplace choice, with a special emphasis on interior design. We also offer a complete installation service by our own teams of CORGI registered fitters.

Stone

The popularity of stone has never been greater.

Our Limestone is mainly sourced from the quarries of Cascais in Northern Portugal.

The soft, natural colour and smooth texture make it particularly suitable to blend with today's soft, muted tones and the restrained simplicity of current design trends.

Marble

For centuries marble has been a material prized by craftsmen for its natural beauty.

Taking influences from the classical simplicity of the Georgian period, to the more robust designs of the Victorian age, we have a fireplace style to suit every home.

The classic proportions of these Chimney pieces make them equally suitable for modern or period properties.

All our mantels are available in Imperial or Carrara marble.
