Goodwill Adult Re-Entry Program

The Goodwill Adult Re-Entry Program aims to address the full range of challenges faced by formerly incarcerated adults to make successful transitions back to the community.

What does the Goodwill Adult Re-Entry Program offer?

- Customized education, vocational training, and employment programs based on individual needs and assessments.
- Vocational and on-the-job training in skilled trade-related industries that lead to careers in fields such as building/construction, manufacturing, and culinary arts.
- GED prep classes for those in need of a high school equivalency certificate and academic remediation to assist with preparing for vocational skills training.
- A dedicated case manager for support both during training and for the first year of employment.

Additional Support Services:

- Legal assistance
- Financial planning
- Transportation assistance
- Employment services
- Monetary stipends for meeting training goals
