New Hyde Park, New York, May 27, 2022 – To enhance access to quality health care in the New York metropolitan region, Parker Jewish Institute for Health Care and Rehabilitation now offers vascular outpatient services.

In a partnership with PRINE Health Vascular Center, Parker offers vascular outpatient/inpatient services in a new state-of-the-art facility located on the first floor of the Institute at 271-11 76th Avenue in New Hyde Park, New York. The Vascular Center offers the most advanced services in peripheral arterial disease treatment, varicose and spider vein treatment, dialysis access management and comprehensive vascular evaluation.

Dr. Amit Shah, a Vascular Surgeon, leads PRINE Vascular Center. Dr. Shah focuses on complex arterial cases and limb salvage. He specializes in minimally invasive treatment for peripheral arterial disease along with dialysis access management. He performs AV fistula and graft creation, as well as critical maintenance and management of vascular access for dialysis patients.

“With the new Vascular Center at Parker Jewish Institute, we continue to expand access to specialty health care for the New York region,” said Michael N. Rosenblut, Parker’s President and CEO. “Dr. Shah is a leader in vascular health, and shares Parker’s mission in providing, with compassion and dedication, superior quality health care and rehabilitation for adults.”

In addition to the Vascular Center, Parker is also home to the Queens-Long Island Renal Institute, providing patients with safe, comfortable hemodialysis treatments in a relaxing setting, meeting the individual needs of patients and families. Thanks to the Vascular Center, patients at Parker and at the renal center within Parker, avoid hospitalization for onsite support. These centers at Parker provide critical services under one roof, benefitting patients.
