Craft Research Fund - Graduate Grant
for Scholars

Grants up to $5,000 awarded to currently enrolled master's students pursuing thesis research related to U.S. craft history or theory.

The graduate grant is one of four categories that make up the Craft Research Fund, a visionary program dedicated to supporting scholarly craft research in the United States.
Since 2005 the Center annually grants $95,000 to academic researchers, independent scholars, curators, and graduate students writing, revising, and reclaiming the history of craft. In 2019 the Center added an additional $40,000 Artist Fellowship category to support the creation of new research and knowledge through craft practice.

Grant Goals
The Craft Research Fund was created to encourage, expand and support scholarly craft research in the United States.

Encourage
To encourage innovative research on critical issues in craft theory and history

Expand
To investigate neglected questions on craft history and criticism

Support
To support new cross-disciplinary approaches to scholarship in craft

Eligibility
Applications are welcome from students enrolled in a humanities-based graduate program (MA) at an accredited college or university for grants up to $5,000 to support research for a thesis project relating to craft in the United States.

No capital equipment purchases, tuition or living expenses are eligible for support.

Applicants must be able to receive taxable income for the duration of the grant and report this grant as income. Applicants must be 18 years of age or older.

This grant is specifically for students pursuing an master's degree in a humanities field. Students pursuing a Master of Fine Arts (MFA), or are applying to support the creation of their own artwork are not eligible to apply. Students interested in support for PhD research should apply for a Craft Research Fund - Project grant.

Examples of scholarly craft research might include:
   Research addressing work by historically important or contemporary craft artist/s
   Presenting a new understanding of the relationship between hand-made production and digital technologies
   Contributions to the history of the studio craft movement
   Placing American craft in a global context
   Or other topics that offer fresh perspectives within the field

Requirements
- Seventy percent of the grant will be awarded upon execution of the grant agreement and receipt of the awardee's W9.
- The final thirty percent will be awarded upon receipt of a final report, to include a project narrative, a budget report, and two copies of the final thesis for inclusion in the Craft Research Fund Collection at the Center for Craft.
- Project and final report must be completed in six months grant period.
- Recipients will acknowledge support from “Center for Craft - Craft Research Fund" in any publications or presentations resulting from the grant.
Review Process
A panel composed of craft curators, faculty, and/or scholars will review proposals and evaluate them based on the following criteria:

- The thesis or dissertation topic relates to one or more of the goals of the Craft Research Fund program
- The student demonstrates familiarity with existing research on the topic
- The proposed research is feasible based on the timeline, expertise and budget reflected in the application
- The research will advance scholarship and knowledge about craft in the United States
