Subject: Ann Taylor, Branding/Content/Corporate Strategies

Since launching in the Fall of 2018, BlueDog Advisory has continued to evolve both internally and externally to meet the needs of our clients. Today, we are pleased to announce that Ann Taylor has taken on a deeper operations role within the organization.

As BlueDog positions for growth, we find it necessary to more effectively segment the duties and responsibilities of our core team. Ann will oversee marketing, branding and content development in association with the firm's strategic growth initiatives. She will also be integral to the development and maintenance of firm policies, procedures and practice standards.

Dixon Karmindro will continue to operate as financial advisor and portfolio manager, supporting client needs spanning across investments and financial planning.

We are grateful for the continued support of our clients, and we look forward to the next chapter in the evolution and advancement of BlueDog Advisory.

Dixon Karmindro
