For many years, the North American Division (NAD) and Adventist Risk Management have recommended that 15-passenger vans not be used.

In 2016, the NAD voted to update its working policy to more clearly prohibit 15-passenger van use and to suggest safer alternatives. But what is a 15-passenger van? What about a 12-passenger van? What about a 15-passenger van that does not have 15 seats? What are the recommended safer alternatives that your ministry should use?

Join David Fournier, chief client care officer of Adventist Risk Management, Inc. (ARM), in this webinar, as he discusses the questions surrounding this type of vehicle. Learn about the NAD working policy update, the myths, and facts on 15-passenger vans, and the additional safety practices you should implement to keep drivers and passengers protected.
