d) Study without working towards a validated qualification

It is possible to study individual modules from the programme without working towards a validated qualification. Modules may be taken either for credit or audit:

- Auditing a module means attending lectures but not submitting any assessments, and therefore no mark, credits or feedback are received at the end

Fees are charged according to the credit rating of the module and whether it is taken for credit or audit. Fees are payable in the term the module is running. For modules lasting more than one term, the full fee is charged and payable in the first term of the module.

c) What are the fees arrangements for Church of England ordinands?

The normal expectation for ordinands starting training in September 2017 onwards is that funding for a candidate's fees is provided by Ministry Division to the sponsoring diocese, who in turn pay the training institution, and that the sponsoring diocese will cover living expenses and advise their candidate of additional grants available. Ministry Division set the fee and maintenance figures for ordinands. Ordinands who commenced their training prior to 2017 will continue to have fees and living expenses covered as previously.

d) What is the Middlesex University Registration Fee?

Oak Hill College is an Enhanced Validated Partner of Middlesex University. Its validated programmes have been developed, are delivered and assessed by the College; they are awarded and quality assured by Middlesex University. This means that our students are liable for registration fees.

i) How much do meals cost?

- Single residential full time students are entitled to three meals a day, seven days week during term time. This is included in their tuition and accommodation fees. As college does not provide weekday evening and weekend meals, a nominal rebate is provided.
- Married full time students are entitled to the equivalent of five lunches per week during term time. This is included in their tuition fees.
- All others (e.g. PGCert students, part time students, creditors and external auditors) may book in for college lunches during term time. They will be charged £3 for each lunch they book in for.
- If a full time student doesn't use all of their meals entitlement, they will receive a small rebate which is based on the cost of the food rather than on the charge for the meal which would include overheads and labour costs.
- If a full time student exceeds their meals entitlement by booking other people in, they are charged £3 per lunch.
- From 2018/19 the meal pricing structure will be subject to annual review. Students will be informed of any increases for the following year as soon as possible.

Oak Hill College reserves the discretion to charge appropriate fees in the case of a special programme being agreed for any student.
