Introduction

We believe that high-quality teaching promotes effective learning and good behaviour. Our emphasis will be on recognising and celebrating effort and success, so that all pupils feel valued. We will teach pupils to take responsibility for their own actions and to accept the consequences of their choices. This policy should be read in conjunction with the school's Behaviour and Discipline Policy to understand at what point this Exclusions Policy will take effect.

Roles and Responsibilities

The headteacher will be responsible for ensuring that this policy is implemented and for reporting to governors on its impact. He or she will:

- inform the pupil's parent or carer of serious indiscipline and the sanctions, the period of any exclusion, and when permanent exclusion is judged to be necessary
- carry out an investigation to identify the reasons for the exclusion
- advise the parent/carer that they may make representations about the exclusion to the governing board's discipline committee
- advise the parent/carer how representations may be made, that they are responsible to ensure their child is not found in a public place, and on what alternative education will be provided
- notify both the local authority and the governing board's discipline committee of the details of the exclusion, including the reasons for it, in the case of (a) a permanent exclusion or a fixed-period exclusion converted to a permanent one; (b) a fixed-period exclusion of more than five days or which brings the days the pupils has been excluded in one term to more than five; (c) an exclusion that would result in the pupil losing the opportunity to take a public exam.

The governing board will establish a Pupil Discipline Committee of three or five members and ensure that they receive appropriate support to fulfil their role. The headteacher will not be a member of this committee.

The committee will have regard to any guidance given by the Secretary of State.

For permanent exclusions and fixed-period exclusions of more than 15 school days in any one term, the committee will meet no earlier than the sixth school day and no later than the 15th school day after receiving notice of the exclusion.

For fixed-period exclusions of more than five school days in any one term up to and including 15 school days, the committee will meet no earlier than the sixth school day and no later than the 15th school day after receiving notice of the exclusion.

The minimum time limit will not apply to any exclusion which would result in a pupil losing an opportunity to take a public examination. In such cases the committee will try to meet before the date of the examination, and if this is not practical the chairman of the discipline committee will review the exclusion before that date.

If the Pupil Discipline Committee decide that a pupil should be reinstated they will give the appropriate direction to the headteacher (who is under a duty to comply with it) and inform the parent and LA of their decision.

If they decide that a pupil should not be reinstated, they will inform the parent, the headteacher and the LA of their decision. In the case of a permanent exclusion they will notify the parent in writing of their decision and the reasons for it within one day. The letter will advise the parent of his or her right to appeal against their decision, whom they should contact to lodge an appeal, the final date for this, and that the notice of appeal should set out the grounds of appeal.
