OVERVIEW

Boxoffice Pro is dedicated to bringing motion picture professionals the latest news, data insights and analysis on the theatrical exhibition business across its print and digital platforms.

In publication since 1920, our magazine is the only monthly publication exclusively focused on the theatrical exhibition. It has been known across the industry across generations as “The Bible of Exhibition.” Now in its centennial year, Boxoffice Pro is a trusted legacy media brand that covers industry trends, executive profiles, event recaps, interviews with the biggest filmmakers, and a look at the latest cinema technology.

Our website, BoxofficePro.com, offers up-to-the-minute updates of daily box office grosses along with our industry-renowned market analysis and pre-release box office forecasting. Our digital presence expands to our e-mail newsletters and robust social media following, reaching exhibition’s industry leaders and insiders around the world.

READERSHIP

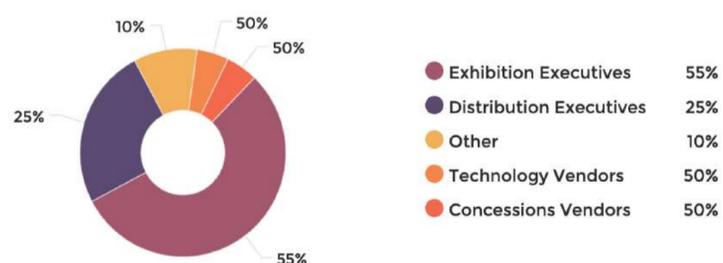

Boxoffice Pro is the official publication of the National Association of Theatre Owners (NATO), the world's largest trade association dedicated to protecting the interests of theatrical exhibition. Each month, the magazine is distributed to all NATO-member cinemas—reaching over 90% of the movie theaters that contribute to the North American box office.

The magazine is available at some of the world's biggest exhibition conventions, including CinemaCon, Art House Convergence, and the year's most important NATO regional meeting venues. As the official publication of the Film Expo Group, Boxoffice Pro enjoys a special positioning at CineEurope, CineAsia, and ShowEast.

Boxoffice Pro reaches a wide range of industry influencers online and through its targeted email newsletters, including cinema owners and CEOs, general managers and concessions professionals, film buyers, producers, distributors, and cinema technology vendors.
