

We do the right thing.

At NEP, we believe creating an inclusive and diverse workplace that welcomes and supports all individuals will lead to great results.

We are a global company, and at our core we are a people company. That's why we believe it is so important to strive for an even more diverse and inclusive work environment – one where everyone can truly be themselves, and be treated with dignity, decency, fairness and respect.

The last few years have challenged many companies to rethink their priorities and ideas around health, equity and resilience. NEP is no exception. As the global leader in media technology, it is our responsibility – and our commitment – to be at the forefront of our industry in building a welcoming workplace that embraces all the ways in which we are unique, and one that reflects our families, clients, partners and communities.

Since 2021 we have built a strong foundation in the areas of policy, training, recruiting and communication on which we can grow. Our journey will take time – but we have indeed begun, and we are making significant progress.

Creating a more inclusive, diverse workplace isn't just the right thing to do, it's at the heart of what we do in our innovation and our business.
