Studio Day

The program kicks off with a Studio Day. It's a full day devoted to uncover your Hidden Curriculum.

You and 6-10 likeminded and wonderful people will go through a series of assignment that will provide insights into yourself and how you approach work life.

We run Studio Days in Copenhagen, Berlin and Los Angeles.

Sessions and training

You have two FaceTime sessions with your personal trainer every month.

The purpose of the training is to start living you work life to fulfill your personal vision.

Together with your trainer you discuss situations when your 'usual' approach fails you and how to adjust it. Then you go and do it in real life.

Recognition Day

At the end of the Program, you meet up with the same people who attended the Studio Day to discuss concrete situations, share learnings. and honor the progress you all made.

uncover hidden your curriculum

hidden curriculum

Uncovering your Hidden Curriculum is about getting insights into yourself and how you approach work life. We call it hidden because it's something most of us are not aware of. But it's there - it just need to be uncovered.

Status Quo

The first assignment is called Status Quo. It's the inventory check. Where are you in your work life today? What results are missing? And what would you like more of? The Staus Quo is your starting point to which you will measure progress.

Vision

Next, you create a vision for your work life. Basically that's figuring out what work gives you when at its very best. The vision translates into a set of values that will guide your decisions and actions. When your vision is fully stimulated your perform at breaknecking speed and have lots of fun at the same time. Yes, work can be fun and rewarding. The next step is to make it happen. That's the hard part and what you will be doing when training.

Disciplines

Throughout life we observe and adapt to situations. From a very early age we start favoring some approaches over others. That's what shapes and define us. Some people are really good at looking out for others, but forget to take care of themselves. Others have a hard time committing if they don't feel they can control everything. At Headlight we are not too concern with why this happens, but we are very interested in how we can change it for the better. The discipline exercise help you figure out what your general approach is.

Possibilities

The final exercise on the Studio Day is called Possibilities and basically it helps you figure out what will be possible if you begin living your work life according to your vision and you learn to master your discipline.

sessions & training

You have two FaceTime sessions with your personal trainer every month. The purpose of the training is to start living your work life to fulfill your personal vision.

Together with your trainer you discuss situations where your “usual approach” fails you.

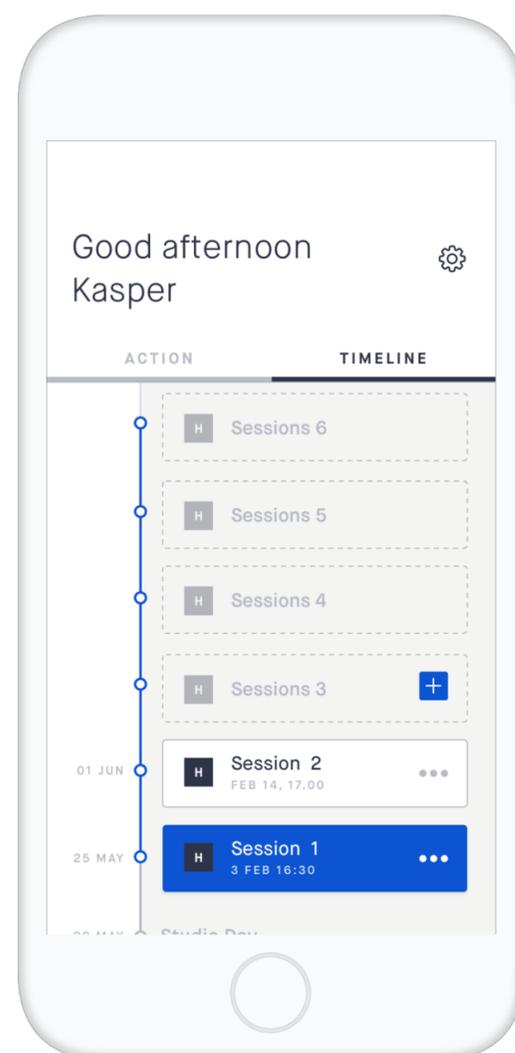

Slowly you learn to spot when you take the familiar route even though it's not optimal or even destructive and how to change your approach to get better results and less frustration.

We exploit everyday work situation so there's no assignments or homework and we have developed a variety of tools to help and guide you in these situations.

Your trainer will introduce the tools and you will apply them to real life situations. The tools are designed as simple questionnaires and guides that help you e.g. prepare a meeting to get full buy-in from stakeholders or to gain transparency on which projects you should focus your energy on.

All the tools are accessible through the Headlight App which is free and yours forever. With the Headlight App you can:

- Book sessions with your Trainer
- Have FaceTime training sessions
- Get access to your Hidden Curriculum
- Use the Headlight tools to guide you in your work
