CREATE AN INCLUSIVE LAB

Lab groups are small groups of students through which cross-cultural communication can be practiced and enhanced.

1. How have I constructed groups that will work together?
   Have I provided opportunities for students to work with a variety of peers?

2. How will I give students a way to share their interests? How can I help them connect with each other and share contact information so they have a peer they can call for help?

3. How and when can I check with students about how their groups are working?

4. How can we set norms for lab interactions?
