

Mobile Apps

We help you sell movie tickets on the go through an easy-to-use and visually stunning mobile app. Increase your customer base, boost retention and talk directly to your core customers.

- ✓ Custom to your brand
- ✓ Designed to sell tickets
- ✓ Fast turnaround
- ✓ Affordable solution

To learn more visit company.boxoffice.com or contact one of our sellers at sales@boxoffice.com

BOOST

Mobile Apps

Some of the key aspects include:

Automated Content

The app is integrated with your backend and automatically displays your movies and showtimes. We also automatically pull all movie information from our own proprietary API. As a result, you automatically get the most up-to-date movie posters, trailers, synopsis, director and cast information, and MPAA information. This information will be available both for the movies now playing in your theaters and for upcoming releases.

Smart Tickets

All tickets are automatically saved on the app and this is integrated with your own backend so you can keep track of your customer's attendance history.

Multi-location

The app knows about all your theater locations and, by means of geo-location, automatically displays the right movie and showtime information to your users. Additionally, we also integrate all location and contact information so your customers are also able to reach out their local theater with minimal effort.

Coming soon

Our goal is to continue improving the app with features such as native ticketing, food and beverage pre-ordering, loyalty program integration...

