

Importance of Buy-Sell Agreements

You've worked hard to build your business. What would happen if something happened to you? Uncertainty requires planning. You've put too much into your business to have it unravel when you're no longer actively involved.

When You Are No Longer In Business...

- Will it provide income for you, for your spouse and family?
- Will your family sell your interest? If so, at what price?
- Will potential estate taxes jeopardize its continuation?
- Who will inherit your co-owner's interest in your business if something should happen to him or her?

Need For A Business Succession Strategy

Questions like these need answers that should be well thought out. Planning for ownership succession of a business can seem complicated and, therefore, business owners often avoid it or approach it unwillingly. However, successful owners of sole proprietorships, partnerships and corporations need to remove any uncertainty over what will happen to the business when they're gone.

Without a strategy to address ownership succession your departure may have a serious financial impact on your family, employees and surviving owners. Outsiders may determine the fate of your business, possibly jeopardizing a lifetime of hard work.

Assuring The Continuation Of Your Business

The best way to provide for the future of your business is to plan for it today. A business succession strategy can be your roadmap for the transfer of your business to your successor owners thereby assuring its ongoing future success. A critical part of this strategy is a buy-sell agreement.

Importance of Buy-Sell Agreements

An owner's death or disability cannot be anticipated. When either occurs the obligation to purchase an owner's business interest can place a financial strain on the business and surviving owners. Funding this obligation with life and disability income insurance may protect the financial well-being of your family as well as your business.

What The Agreement Can Do

This agreement enables you to anticipate the transfer of your business interest upon the occurrence of triggering events such as retirement, disability or death.

In Addition, It May:

- Preserve the value of the business for you and your family
- Establish a method for valuing your business interest
- Enable you to select your successor owners
- Determine the estate value of a non-family owned business
- Ensure continuity of management that is critical for the ongoing success of the business

An owner's death or disability cannot be anticipated. When either occurs the obligation to purchase an owner's business interest can place a financial strain on the business and surviving owners. Funding this obligation with life and disability income insurance may protect the financial wellbeing of your family as well as your business.

Guidance For Your Situation

With so much riding on choosing, the investment of time spent today will be one of the wisest business decisions you will make.

Our team of professionals, working with your independent legal and tax advisors will guide you through this process to help ensure that your strategy is properly implemented and maintained.

Contact Us Today

Representatives do not provide tax and/or legal advice. Any discussion of taxes is for general informational purposes only, does not purport to be complete or cover every situation, and should not be construed as legal, tax or accounting advice. Clients should confer with their qualified legal, tax and accounting advisors as appropriate. Securities and investment advisory services offered through qualified registered representatives of MML Investors Services, LLC. Member SIPC. www.sipc.org. CREATIVE Financial Group is not a subsidiary or affiliate of MSI Financial Services, Inc., MML Investors Services, LLC, or its affiliated companies. 16 Campus Boulevard, Newtown Square, PA 19073. 610.325.6100. CRN202205-264808