

Certifications/Workforce Development

These classes and certifications are not directly connected to a degree but are for students who desire specific skills to obtain employment. These skills and certifications are also useful if a student decides to seek a degree.

- CNA (Certified Nurse's Assistant) Certification 8:30-11:15 am (18-week course and clinical)

CERTIFIED NURSING ASSISTANT (CNA) The American population is aging, and the demand for CNAs in healthcare is strong. This 100-hour course combines knowledge and demonstrable skills for individuals to provide nursing or nursing related services and will prepare students to sit for the State Nurse Aide Exam and to become state certified.

- Truck Driving Training/CDL Program

FDTC Truck Driving Training Program offers high quality Class A driver training with emphasis placed on Courtesy counts and Safety saves. Exceptional professional training is provided by instructors with a combined 150 years of experience in the industry and offers classroom, hands on, skills and on the road training to prepare students to have the opportunity to move into an industry career that is growing every year and continues to have employment opportunities available every day.

- Phlebotomy training program

PHLEBOTOMY TECHNICIAN Get certified to work as a Phlebotomy Technician in just three months! With the completion of this course, you will be prepared to find employment as a Phlebotomy Technician in a hospital, physician's office, a diagnostic laboratory or blood donor center.