December 13, 2021

WEEKLY DIGEST

FOX Token is on Coinbase and Other Exchanges

Last week the FOX Token was listed on Coinbase as well as Coinbase Pro. The community was super excited about this recognition and was happy to announce that FOX is now even more accessible. The ShapeShift DAO's FOX Token was also added to Coinexcom and Huobi Global in the same week.

ShapeShift DAO to Implement Coordinape Payment System

The community is excited about this opportunity to partner with Coordinape and add a bottom up payment system for rewarding its contributors. An AMA was held last week to discuss the details and the reaction from the community was superb. This proposal is currently in the process of community voting, which will determine if this system will be implemented or not.

An Inquiry into Decentralization with Erik Voorhees

In this episode of "What Is Money" show host Robert Breedlove talks to Erik Voorhees, founder of ShapeShift. They explore the nature of decentralization. The episode premiered on December 2, 2021.

TOP STORIES

FOX Token is on Coinbase

Coinbase Pro announced on December 6, 2021, that ShapeShift's FOX Token would be launching on their trading platform (see the announcement here). Coinbase Pro offers individuals the ability to trade a variety of digital assets on a secure, insurance-backed platform. By participating in the ShapeShift DAO, FOX holders can vote on important governance matters, future asset integrations, products, and fee structures for the platform.

As of December 7th, FOX-USD and FOX-USDT trading is now available to Coinbase Pro users. Holders of the token can now withdraw or deposit FOX to Coinbase and use open order books. For more information on order types available, see: Overview of order types and settings \(stop, limit, market\).

The following day, FOX was also listed on Coinbase.com and in the app. The ShapeShift DAO's FOX Token was added to Coinexcom and Huobi Global in the same week.

ShapeShift DAO to Implement Coordinape Payment System

Last week ShapeShift DAO held an AMA with Coordinape, kindly organised by @IrohDW. Coordinape is a bottom up payment system in which people are rewarded based on how the community feels about their contribution. Adding a bottom up payment system provides more flexibility in how ShapeShift rewards its contributors.

This system would incentivize participation by recognizing each others' value, building a more cohesive and productive community. It would further help the DAO understand how value moves through the organization.

The community really enjoyed this AMA and it looks like this proposal will move to the ideation stage. ShapeShift DAO is looking forward to filling this gap in the payment system and upholding its promise of decentralized collaboration, with teams of people all working together.

An Inquiry into Decentralization with Erik Voorhees

Erik sat down with Robert Breedlove of "What is Money?" this month to discuss all things DAO and ShapeShift's ballsy transformation from a traditional corporation into a DAO. Decentralization is the main topic of the episode, but Erik and Mr. Breedlove bring an amicable air to many other aspects of the current environment of the crypto world. Erik brought his trademark honesty (at times brutal) and extensive knowledge of cryptocurrencies to a nuanced and informative discussion.

Erik's deep commitment to the core principles of Bitcoin while embracing the various and numerous positive qualities of other blockchains was eloquently defended throughout the conversation. Intelligent and thoughtful questions from Breedlove kept the discourse moving at a captivating pace. At over two hours, this is one video that remains engaging, educational, and entertaining throughout.
