WEEKLY DIGEST

Lobby: Taking ShapeShift to New Heights

Since our inception as a DAO, we have looked for a knowledge management solution in Web3 that would easily consolidate all of our written content for the general public while giving our community more control over access and information. As we have grown, we noted a high barrier to entry for our non-English community, and translators found friction with current tools. Enter: Lobby.so

XDEFI Wallet Support

ShapeShift is excited to announce that our open-source web app now supports XDEFI Wallet. XDEFI is a multichain wallet that allows you to securely store, swap, and send crypto and NFTs across 11 blockchains. XDEFI Wallet supports more than 10,000 assets on Ethereum, THORChain, Avalanche, Polygon, Bitcoin, Doge, Terra, Binance Chain, Binance Smart Chain, Litecoin, and Bitcoin Cash.

ShapeShift LatAm Team at Bitconf 2022

Brazilian and LatAm crypto market players met at IX Bitconf from May 20th to 22nd. Around 2500 people and 45 companies were introduced to the ShapeShift DeFi Universe in an immersive experience that brought the DAOs keen style and take on the traditional cryptocurrency market. ShapeShift DAO surprised everyone by bringing a disruptive speech and by being the most permissive protocol of the event.

TOP STORIES

Lobby: Taking ShapeShift to New Heights

Through experimenting with and looking at various options, including our use of Notion, we discovered that email-based access and seat-based pricing would continue to limit us to the constraints of Web2. We lived with these constraints for months, and they directly impacted our ability to lead the charge in promoting and facilitating inclusivity, community, and progressiveness within Web3. Lobby enabled us to take steps forward as a DAO toward that goal.

When Lobby was introduced to us, their team gave us a product demo that solved many of the issues mentioned above. Our contributors continued to work alongside the Lobby team to address key issues and pain points that our DAO—and many others—were facing. We continued to iterate and refine their product through real-world application and testing until we finally had the perfect Web3 native collaborative tool for our written content. Since then, we have successfully implemented Lobby as a tool for our marketing contributor network and international community to utilize, receiving overwhelmingly positive feedback from our ShapeShift users.

XDEFI Wallet Support

XDEFI Wallet's most unique feature is that it enables unlimited, permissionless cross-chain swaps within the wallet and never stores any user information; you are always in complete control of your funds. With more wallets, more chains, and more choice—app.shapeshift.com is the premiere DeFi dashboard. In addition, XDEFI Wallet can display all of your NFTs from Ethereum, Avalanche, Polygon, Terra, and Binance Smart Chain in a single gallery.

ShapeShift LatAm Team at Bitconf 2022

In ShapeShift's line of thought, education and business mix and it certainly gave the community a unique point of view about open-source culture. As triple-block sponsors we were entitled to a large space to host people, friends and discuss business. There were three screens available, on the first we presented institutional videos, on another we offered mini-games to entertain the guests and on the last one some QR codes with links to further engage with our social networks. Additionally, we did massive giveaways of over 50 t-shirts and 50 socks, as well as 70 exclusive gold cards containing a POAP + airdrop (Gnosis Chain). These cards are part of a high-level artistic collection that we intend to carry in our merch culture. They quickly became sought after at fairs and because they are scarce, people just appeared asking for cards hoping to add to their collection from the previous edition (Ethereum Rio).

Some personalities also appeared at our stand such as Jon Maddog, Brazilian crypto influencers, and journalists outside of the crypto community who were interested in DeFi. Bitconf 2022 was the perfect opportunity to introduce our organization and bring in new FOXes!
