Rosé of Malbec Columbia Valley

TASTING NOTES

A sensory garden of layered aromas of fresh watermelon and strawberry, nectarine, and hints of peach and citrus on the nose, this Rosé explodes on the palate with springtime flavors. With an elegantly balanced essence of freshly harvested strawberries, lemon and rhubarb with a nice touch of mineral, this wine is very lively with a great balance of acidity on the finish.

WINEMAKER'S NOTES

We chose this high elevation Malbec vineyard site because of its unique characteristics with thicker skins, smaller berries sizes that help contribute to the unique attributes of this wine. The wine is made in the traditional style, pressing off the skins after close to 6 hours of cold soak contact. This year we harvested the fruit on the 30th of September after the Malbec grapes achieved the optimal ripeness for the style of Rosé that we like to make.

Inoculated with Elegance yeast, fermentation took place in a temperature controlled stainless steel fermenter to maintain the delicate aromas and fruit character in the wine.
