Part-time Corporate Finance Specialist

Opportunity

Work with the UK investment arm of a family office with global interests to gain buy-side experience through the evaluation and execution of varied investment opportunities, with a focus on private equity transactions. This is the chance to get involved with a nascent investment organisation with a team-oriented and highly collaborative atmosphere.

At the outset, the role will be part time and would suit a student on a course of postgraduate study (MBA or Master's in Finance) with financial sector experience, or a freelance consultant who is seeking a more entrepreneurial career after some years of formal corporate finance training at a professional services firm. The time commitment will be flexible and will fluctuate on a project by project basis as deal analysis is required.

Quantum and structuring of compensation will reflect the experience and circumstances of the successful candidate. There is scope for the role to evolve into a full-time position.

About Addition Capital

Addition Capital invests in UK companies that have the potential to grow and sustain in all business environments. We provide exit options for owners that preserve the legacy and integrity of their businesses, as we plan for long-term ownership and act as a strategic partner to help push companies forward. Addition seeks investment opportunities in a number of industries, particularly technology, education, healthcare and financial services.

Addition Capital was established in 2016 by Jay Verjee and Federico Alvarez-Demalde as part of their family offices. Jay is an entrepreneur with 15 years of M&A, financing and operating experience. He is the Chairman of The Rumi Foundation, his family's UK charitable foundation, with an endowment of over £100m.
