MOODY'S ESG SOLUTIONS GROUP APPOINTS RAHUL GHOSH TO LEAD OUTREACH AND RESEARCH

LONDON – MARCH 4, 2021

Moody's ESG Solutions Group (MESG) announced today that it has appointed Rahul Ghosh as Managing Director of ESG Outreach & Research. In this newly-established role, Mr Ghosh will oversee MESG's outreach activities with the global sustainability stakeholder community and manage the group's thought leadership. He will lead the production of market-leading research focused on environmental, social and governance (ESG) trends and issues relating to dual materiality and multi-stakeholder performance and themes ranging from social equality and biodiversity to sustainable supply chains.

"Market practitioners are no longer viewing ESG solely through a risk lens; they are also recognizing the huge opportunity to create long-term value," said Andrea Blackman, Global Head of Moody's ESG Solutions. "Having led a range of high-impact initiatives related to ESG and emerging markets since joining Moody's in 2014, Rahul will bring a deep knowledge of global financial markets and sustainable finance to our holistic research and outreach efforts."

Ghosh has represented Moody's on the UN Principles for Responsible Investment's (PRI) advisory committee on credit ratings and the Green Bond Principles (GBP) working groups. He has also presented on the impact of climate change on sovereign creditworthiness at the G20 Green Finance Study Group.

Prior to this role, Ghosh worked in Moody's Credit Strategy and Standards group in London and Singapore. Most recently, he was responsible for driving Moody's global emerging markets research and outreach, producing qualitative and quantitative analysis reports on fundamental emerging market credit and prevailing market trends.
