

1. Introduction

Accredited testing laboratories around New Zealand have been working hard to provide testing to the New Zealand public for the SARS-CoV-2 virus. The following listed medical testing laboratories are currently accredited for such testing.

There are a number of additional accredited laboratories providing a subcontracted testing service to the medical laboratory community, but all enquiries regarding COVID-19 testing should be made to the listed medical laboratories only.

The full IANZ Directory of accredited laboratories, including detailed scopes of accreditation, can be found on the IANZ website at <https://www.ianz.govt.nz/directory>.

For further information, please contact the individual laboratories.
