

Business Problem:

With a large portion of employees having to undergo COVID-19 related health inspections and answer questions it created a bottleneck and a large portion of unclaimable downtime.

Technology needed to expedite this process

Description of solution:

The solution was to create a hybrid system where the company would upload their required questions, the employee would fill them in prior to attending work and then when they got to site they presented their QR code that would get scanned thus marking them with attendance.

Period of Engagement:

May 2020 – present
