

Memory Care

At Rolla Presbyterian Manor, we understand the dilemma faced by family and caregivers of those living with memory impairment. The desire to care for your loved one yourself may be strong, and the realization that the situation may be more than you can handle can be difficult.

Recognizing the special needs of those with memory loss, whether from Alzheimer's or other forms of dementia, Rolla Presbyterian Manor offers living options designed especially for these conditions. Here, residents receive the special attention they need to address the changing stages of their illness.

We have created a unique environment to provide the compassionate care and support residents need while engaging the mind and offering social opportunities to enjoy life without worry.

Memory Care services include:

- 24-hour staff supervision
- Specialized therapeutic activities for physical and mental stimulation
- Daily housekeeping service
- Daily laundry service
- Assistance with daily activities as needed
- Social, health and wellness programs
- Secure environment, including a private outdoor courtyard
- Emergency call system
- Worship services
- Medical transportation

Caring for the whole person

Memory care provides the staff support, care, programs and services your loved one needs. This isn't a one-size-fits-all program, as we look at your loved one as an individual with their own interests. Our goal is to help them feel comfortable and secure. You get the added peace of mind that professional staff is available at any time.

Rather than being isolated at home, your loved one is surrounded by people who care and programs that will continue to stimulate their mind and spirit.
