Adventure Cruise in Alta Fjord

For this tour, leave your fishing gear behind and explore the beautiful Alta Fjord. Our excursion includes birdwatching and other wildlife while we explore our fascinating Fjord – perhaps even spot a dolphin or a whale on the longest tours along the way. We will also tell tales about some of our colorful local history, as well as share stories about the historic mining industry in the district and about World War II.

King Crab Tour

The tour goes to the crab field in Alta Fjord. The red king crab is captured in a box-shaped trap called a pot which is then pulled out of the sea and into the boat. You can observe the captain while he works, as he has done it many times before. When the king crab is onboard, you can hold it carefully and take pictures with it.

Sunset Over Alta Fjord

Join us for an evening cruise out on the dramatic and breath-taking Alta Fjord. We will cruise out into the sparkling water under vast skies, surrounded by low mountains dotted with tiny towns and occasional houses along the Fjord, and leave Alta behind us for a short period. As evening descends, the sunset will light the sky on fire - arctic sunsets are truly majestic. A cloudy night? Look for the sunset to shine dramatic beams down through the clouds onto the grey and challenging water.

Whale Watching Tour

A winter tour on Alta Fjord can be a magical experience. Yes, it may be cold, but it might be worth it for a chance to catch sight of whales. Recently whales have appeared in Alta Fjord. The whales have migrated further north allowing us to observe in our district. The two most common species in the Alta Fjord are sperm whales and killer whales (orcas), but there are also good opportunities to see porpoises and hourglass dolphins.

PS. There is no guarantee to always find whales as they travel all the time.
