Despite stakeholders' best efforts, coordinating multiple drug discount programs across many players inevitably results in noncompliant discounts, costing manufacturers more than $8.5 billion dollars annually. Imagine a world in which you never dispense a drug discount without having complete confidence that you are complying with statute and contracted terms. With Kalderos Verify, you can eliminate the complexities of pay-and-chase and pay only the discounts you actually owe.

A better way to pay drug discounts

Kalderos Verify is a secure and intuitive tool designed to enable manufacturers to work with thousands of providers to facilitate the exchange of drug discounts on a single platform.

Discount payments on your terms

Kalderos Verify, and its provider companion tool, Request, halts noncompliance because the right discount is paid when drugs are dispensed — so you don't have to go after noncompliant discounts.

A collaborative tool that supports all stakeholders

Together, Kalderos Request and Verify enable true collaboration between manufacturers and providers by upgrading the drug discount request and payment process.
