Message

“In my mother’s older years, with lots of changes brought on by age and circumstance, we often discussed her making the decisions which needed to be made before they had to be made for her. There are some choices that, inevitably, others have to make, or at least help us with, but ultimately we are called on to make the choices we can and must do in the face of what life and faith ‘throws at us’. Often we want to blame others: government, councils, neighbours, family, church, for the circumstances or situations we are faced with, but when the chips are down God doesn’t hold us accountable for any choices but our own, but if we won’t choose, often others will choose for us... in love, and we won’t always like the consequences! What are you faced with in life, and in your faith journey, which you need to rise up and make choices for, or against? If you don’t choose, you can’t blame anyone else.”

Sermon: Rev’d Nigel Dixon

Collect for the day

Living God, the prophets faithfully served you, fearlessly speaking your truth.

Grant us courage to follow their example,
and witness to your truth,
so that we might live lives worthy of your calling.

Through Jesus Christ our Liberator, who is alive and reigns with you, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God,
now and for ever. Amen
