Solid Bianco Carrara Marble with Satin Brass detail.

Handcarved Braille Poem reads:

My center lies outside the circle,
aligned by the beauty of these flaws.
A perimeter beyond your eye's hurdles,
this province of the orbit's last outlaw.
Temporary is this passage of fog,
and darkness your last monologue.
While movements are revealed only to the still,
the delineations begin to dance and thrill.

At once you were lost and found,
and now your vision unbound.
Come find me among the peaks and valleys,
here you will discover no blind alleys.
Only light and truth await,
at the tip of your finger's weight.
See how I feel and feel how I see,
harvest the fruit from this invisible tree.
