Organic Alfalfa Juice Powder

Alfalfa is a low-calorie, nutrient-rich food that is grown all over the world. A single gram of organic alfalfa contains a wide range of key minerals, trace elements and vitamins (including a source of Vitamin K) in a very digestible form, providing a solid platform for cellular health and activity. Nutrition components include vitamins A, C, E, and K4, and minerals calcium, potassium, phosphorous, and iron.

We are on a constant mission to improve our formulations

AquaSource has sourced Organic Alfalfa Juice Powder. Organic alfalfa juice is dried to a powder using BioActive Dehydration®, a proprietary ambient temperature spray drying process. This gentle process preserves and dries our products to a powder at less than 41°C (106°F). BioActive Dehydration® causes virtually no thermal degradation, preserving the colour, flavour, aroma, and nutrients of fresh organic alfalfa.

Organic Spirulina

Spirulina is another blue-green algae that has significant nutritional value. Spirulina contains phytonutrients that have strong antioxidant properties. Rigorous quality control tests are conducted daily to ensure that our stringent quality standards are maintained and exceed all international food standards.

AquaSource Organic Algae from the Upper Klamath Lake

AquaSource Organic Algae is one of the purest and most mineral-rich algae in the world. It is never exposed to high temperatures. Our BioActive Dehydration® process ensures maximum nutritional value.

Algae are at the base of the food chain. So, the body easily recognises the nutrients in algae as food and they are readily absorbed. It is very nutrient-dense, meaning that almost everything in algae is converted by the body into energy.

Many consider blue-green algae from the Upper Klamath Lake to be nature's most balanced food. Never frozen, AquaSource's BioActive Dehydration® process is a proprietary drying process that dehydrates this algae source to a powder with virtually no degradation of nutritional elements, colour, aroma or flavour.

Here is where AquaSource harvest their algae; the place where Nature's most complete and balanced food grows. The algae found here has many remarkable properties - nothing equals its nutritional profile. On a gram for gram basis, it is a rich source of a wide range of nutrients.

Study

“This small international study yields really promising results for our improved formula of Organic Green Energy”

Arthur Spurling, Managing Director

94%

Background

Last autumn, we conducted a small study of AquaSource Organic Green Energy. The study was conducted in both the UK and Bulgaria. Participants included both, individuals who had taken our original Green Energy and those who had never consumed Green Energy. Participants included a variety of ages, occupations, gender, and general wellness.

Pre-trial questionnaire

Before beginning the study, participants were asked to complete a pre-trial questionnaire. Information included:

Personal details (name, age, gender, location, occupation, etc.). General health, medications, and energy level. Sleep habits, exercise, water intake. General emotional temperament (calm, nervous, mildly stressed, very stressed). Taken Green Energy in the past.

The process

Participants were asked to take 2 to 4 capsules of AquaSource Organic Green Energy every day for 7 days. At the end of the seven days, follow-up questions were asked that included:

Was the full 7-day regimen followed?

Were there any adverse effects?

How quickly did you feel the benefits? (more energy)

Did you feel the need to take more than 2 capsules daily?

Did you notice any other health benefits?

Was there an improvement in your mood?

How do you now rate your energy level on a scale of 1-10?

Do you feel Green Energy improved your energy levels?

The results

The participants have been divided into two groups. Those who have previously taken Green Energy and those who have not.
