WHY DO WE EXIST?

To empower, inspire and revolutionise the pacific sport workforce | by collaborating with world class leaders
| to advance diverse and customised sport qualifications | and transform lives

OSEP: Our Role, Function and Approach

OSEP is the training and development arm of ONOC's Education Commission with a focus on improving sport education and training opportunities and outcomes for Pacific people at all levels.

WHAT WE DO:

We pursue our vision of “A high quality Sport Education Programme that sets industry standards in the Pacific region and is recognised as the benchmark for the Continental Regions of the Olympic Family” through;

Innovation & Growth

By leading and delivering innovative sport education programmes with our NOCs, industry partners and key stakeholders, informed by evidence based best practice data and insights.

Pacific Cultural Capital & Expertise

By drawing on our cultural intelligence, and what works for our Pacific region and using this to influence our advice to the IOC, regional and local Governments and decision makers to promote quality sport education and industry standards.

Partnerships, Leadership & Stewardship

By partnering with a wide range of stakeholders and organisations across the Pacific region and internationally to identify opportunities for innovation, growth and success.

Expert Advice

By providing expert advice to influence Governments, leaders and relevant industry partners to develop programmes that meet the need, and contribute to developing a skilled workforce within the Sport industry in the Region.

HOW WE DO IT:

We will create a robust and informed Strategic Plan which clearly articulates specific and detailed goals for each functional area and define the roles and responsibilities of all stakeholders who commit to the delivery of the plan.

We will identify and commit the necessary resources to deliver the change required. We will monitor and evaluate progress against the plan on a quarterly basis and by undertaking a comprehensive review at the midpoint of the plan.

We will be agile and be more effective at delivering positive learner experiences, take advantage of new technologies to enhance both learner and training provider experiences. We will focus on gathering intelligence and data that will inform best practice. We will also ensure our NOCs and other partners are well supported to deliver programmes.

We will be recognised as a world leader in the provision of quality sport education training and development courses and programmes. We want to be at the centre of influencing and contributing to more qualified and successful Pacific sports industry workforce that will contribute to raising sustainable economic and social performance in the Pacific Region.
