- This game is played very much like half-court basketball except

 - It's basically one-on-one-on-one
- The game begins with one player on offense first with the ball
 - The other two players are on defense until one of them steals the ball or gets a rebound off a missed shot.
 - This player would then become the new offensive player.
 - If an offensive player makes a shot
 - They continue being the offensive player
 - If the defensive players force the offensive player to stop dribbling
 - Then the offensive player is forced to shoot from that spot
 - The shot must occur within three seconds.
 - A player gets two points for each shot made.
 - The player with the highest point total wins
