Awareness Of Others

Healthy Habit of the Week:

Talk with your family about what you put in your bubble and what you have learned about respecting other people's space

Key Points:

- Personal space is the area immediately around someone's body and it is important that we do not enter other people's personal space without permission
- We all have our own personal bubbles which include things that are important to us
- Remember, we should all respect each other's personal bubbles

Keeping Our Personal Space

Connect the boxes with good personal space or a space invader.

Pushing

Keeping my hands
to myself in line

Sitting near a friend,
but not too close

Running into people

Poking other people

Saying "excuse me"
when I need to pass someone
