

flyExclusive Now Accepts Cryptocurrency Payments for Jet Club Memberships and Private Charter Flights

KINSTON, NC (March 10, 2021) – flyExclusive, a leading provider of premium private jet charter travel, today announced that it is building on its commitment to innovation and broadening access to private jet travel by accepting cryptocurrency payments for flights on its private charter service and Jet Club.

Through partnership with BitPay, the world’s largest provider of BitCoin and cryptocurrency payment services, travelers who choose flyExclusive can now use Bitcoin, Ethereum or other forms of cryptocurrency in exchange for a world-class flying experience that surpasses expectations for quality, safety and convenience.

“Technology continues to reshape how commerce is conducted and cryptocurrency has emerged as a highly attractive investment for many of our current and prospective clients,” said Mike Guina, president, flyExclusive. “Because of this, we’re embracing the opportunity to offer cryptocurrency payments as another way to deliver value, convenience and premium service for our clients.”

Jet Club, which has experienced over 40% month-over-month growth since launching in May, is the ideal way for flyers to pre-purchase access to flyExclusive’s growing, floating fleet of more than 70 Cessna Citation and Gulfstream aircraft. With guaranteed availability and the most competitive hourly rates in the industry, the addition of cryptocurrency builds on Jet Club’s innovative approach to delivering ease of use, access, control and reliability in private jet travel.
