

Job Title: EU Public Affairs Executive/Senior Executive (Health)

Working For: Hanbury Strategy

Location: Brussels

Start Date: ASAP 2021

Salary: Competitive and dependant on experience

About Hanbury Strategy

Hanbury Strategy is a fast-growth strategic advisory firm that provides political analysis and insight to clients from the FTSE 100 through political bodies to fast-growth, disruptive start-ups.

In just four years, Hanbury has grown to nearly 70 people with offices in London, Brussels and Berlin with further ambitious plans for 2021 and beyond. Hanbury's fast-expanding EU team, based across all three offices, focuses on delivering analysis and strategic advice on political and regulatory developments in Brussels and Member States for an enviable client portfolio.

The Opportunity

We are looking to grow the health team with the recruitment of an Executive or Senior Executive, someone with at least one or two years experience, who would relish the opportunity to support the next stage of our growth. The ideal candidate would actively help the team deliver EU Public Affairs counsel to clients in the health and food safety field (with potential opportunity to support across other policy areas including sustainability and digitalisation). This is an exciting opportunity to be part of a fast-growth business with bold ambitions.

- Permanent contract
- Generous bonus scheme - up to three months annual salary depending on performance
- 26 days of annual leave, plus discretionary additional days off between Christmas and New Year
- A complimentary international Employee Assistance Programme
- Access to a full social and cultural calendar and employees wellness programmes
- A rich and diverse people development programme including fortnightly internal training sessions and a full annual programme of external expert trainers and inspirational speakers

The Candidate

Experience

- You have worked in EU policy, advocacy or public affairs within the EU institutions, a European non-governmental organisation, a national public institution or agency or consultancy
- You demonstrate strong knowledge of EU health policies and have a keen interest in the area
- Experience in working on health and food safety policies will be considered an asset.

Skills

- You have an in-depth understanding of the EU institutions and policy making
- You are a team-player and have worked in diverse and fast-paced working environments
- You demonstrate critical thinking skills
- You possess excellent writing, communication and organisational skills
- You are skilled in undertaking policy and political analysis and monitoring salient policy developments.

The Position

Client Account Servicing

- You will work effectively within a dynamic team, delivering impeccable client service and exemplary counsel
- Support the team through research and monitoring of key EU health policy developments with the aim of drafting insight updates, reports and briefings
- Undertake stakeholder mapping and support clients in advancing their engagement strategies
- Proactively and creatively explore ways of presenting complex technical information into clear, reader-friendly material that conveys key messages
- Anticipate client needs and effectively analyse and channel health policy and political developments to meet client interests and objectives
- Handle client account administration effectively, demonstrating great attention to detail with minimum instruction and guidance.

Business Development

- Contributes to new business proposals and pitch presentations, provides support to senior colleagues, including media, policy and client sector research
- Participates in new business brainstorms and contributes ideas and insights.

Network Development

- Takes the initiative to attend relevant external events to start building a network and to promote Hanbury
- Engage with different interlocutors in Brussels, building and developing a network.
