

Job Title: EU Senior Executive/ Associate Director Green Finance

Working For: Hanbury Strategy

Location: Brussels / London

Start Date: 2021, ASAP

Salary: Competitive and dependant on experience

EU Senior Executive Green Finance - Hanbury Strategy [REF: 0005]

About Hanbury Strategy

Hanbury Strategy is a fast-growth strategic advisory firm that provides political analysis and insight to clients from the FTSE 100 through to fast-growth, disruptive start-ups.

In more than four years, Hanbury has grown to almost 100 people with offices in London, Brussels and Berlin and has very ambitious plans for 2021 and beyond. Hanbury's EU team is fast growing and provides clients with analysis and strategic advice on political and regulatory developments in Brussels and member states.

The opportunity

We are looking to grow the team with the recruitment of a senior position for someone with at least three years experience in EU green finance policy, who would relish the opportunity to support the next stage of our growth. The level of seniority will depend on relevant experience. This person would actively help the team deliver EU Public Affairs counsel to financial services clients focusing on sustainability and sustainable finance. The role is normally Brussels based, but will be happy to consider London-based with a good Brussels network.

This is an exciting opportunity to be part of a fast-growth business with bold ambitions. The new joiner will help the team to realise the huge potential to work across projects that will genuinely leave their mark.

This role includes funding to complete a CBI certification in green finance.

The skills

Knowledge

- You will have had exposure to government, regulators, EU institutions, or public affairs consultancies, via employed positions
- You have demonstrable understanding of the EU policymaking and legislative processes
- You have expertise and/or experience working in EU financial services policy and in particular sustainable finance

Client account servicing

- You are skilled in undertaking policy and political analysis and monitoring salient policy developments, including in financial services and green finance
- You will work across a portfolio of client accounts delivering advice and analysis on green finance and sustainability. You will be an expert in the green finance policy environment in the EU
- You will work directly with the senior team and in collaboration with the wider financial services team to develop and deploy clients' work programmes on green finance
- You will work effectively within a dynamic team, delivering impeccable client service and exemplary counsel, and contribute with increasing confidence to internal and external client meetings
- You will handle general account administration effectively, demonstrating great attention to detail and proactivity with minimum instruction and guidance
- Contribute to client and new business proposals and presentations, providing support to colleagues, including media, policy and client sector research
- You will have a growth mindset, facilitating growth with existing clients and participating in new business development. You will also think laterally about opportunities to introduce different parts of the wider business
- Regularly attend relevant external events and further build a network and promote Hanbury
