Cyberport Macro Fund

Cyberport Macro Fund will require the investee to be a “Cyberport Enterprise”, which means that they have to become a Cyberport affiliate, either:

- As an incubatee of the Cyberport incubation programme (subject to application and selection), or
- As a tenant of Cyberport working space, which requires establishment of 100% wholly owned HK subsidiary

There is an expectation that the funds which Cyberport will invest into the company will partly go into setting up their HK subsidiary and hire (preferably technical) people in HK.

Given that Cyberport Macro Fund is a co-investment fund, investment will also be subject to co-investment by another identified investor, who will act as the lead investor for the deal.

Cyberport Macro Fund reserves all the rights to undergo its own due diligence and investment processes and may impose any additional investment requirements when they see fit.
