

Course Title: High School (HS) Introduction to Composition

Description:

We want to help your student learn to write with confidence and clarity. Writing communication skills are critical to high achievement beyond high school and in the work place.

This course is for high school students who are looking to build upon the skills learned in a previous writing class or have never completed an IEW writing course. Students will learn note taking and outlines, writing from notes, retelling narrative stories, summarizing a single reference and multiple references, writing from pictures, inventive writing, formal essays and critiques. Students will work through all of IEW's nine writing units using the IEW system to provide the student with a process to approach their writing assignments. Some grammar will be taught within the context of writing and editing, but grammar work at home is recommended to complement this class. An optional literature component is available for use at home.

Prerequisites: Grades 9+

Thursdays 12:20 – 1:50 PM – Starting August 11; 32 weeks

Minimum 6 students required to start

Textbook:

Student notebook to be provided by Bellevue Tutorial
(Institute for Excellence in Writing)

Teacher:

Kylie Wilson; Contact Bellevue Tutorial, 901-347-5518, tutorial@bellevue.org

Cost:

$430 (32 weeks) – includes student notebook

No other fees