How to Use Our Humanity Video PSAs

Our Humanity

Our Humanity mission statement / project overview:

Our Humanity is a media movement designed to deliver timely, accurate, and relevant information to communities of color being disproportionately impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic. Utilizing video messages created by thought leaders and influencers across a wide range of sectors, Our Humanity will provide crucial information about how to stay safe, healthy, and collectively strong through this unprecedented crisis. We believe that by creating messaging that is specifically tailored to communities of color and delivered by individuals who are trusted and respected in their respective communities, we can provide essential guidance for how to navigate the uncertainties and difficulties presented by the pandemic. Striving together in a spirit of solidarity and responsibility, we will keep ourselves, our families, and our communities resilient through this crisis.

Overview of partnership

Partnering organizations are granted access to all Our Humanity media and materials. In exchange, organizations agree to aid in the mission of the Our Humanity media movement by distributing videos through their respective networks. Our Humanity aims to deliver its messaging particularly to Black, Latinx, Native American, and Pacific Islander communities, which are being disproportionately impacted by the COVID-19 crisis.

To get started, follow these 4 steps:

1. Read the Our Humanity PSA Guidelines, media content restriction guidelines and FAQs listed below.
2. Review the video catalog and identify the PSAs or printed material you are interested in sharing with your constituents/community.
3. Build an outreach and dissemination plan to reach and activate members your organization's network.

- a. Identify your network. Make a list of your organization's members who might be interested in the PSA videos.
 - b. Reach your network. Set up a way to communicate with your organization's members. This could be an electronic mailing list, a group chat, a periodic newsletter, social media, etc.
 - c. Activate your network. Follow up with members of your organization and find ways to keep them involved and engaged with while maintaining physical distancing. Organize virtual meetings where members can socialize and share how the virus is affecting them personally.
4. Execute your outreach and dissemination plan. See below for a sample letter to distribute to your organization's constituents.

Ideas for sharing Our Humanity videos and other materials:

- Distribution through your organization's social media platforms (Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, YouTube, etc.) If posting an Our Humanity PSA on your organization's social media page, we ask that you include the hashtag #OurHumanity2020.
- Distribution through email, online newsletters, and mailing lists.
- Distribution via SMS (i.e. sharing video links via text message)
- Placement or embedding of videos on organization website
- Inclusion of videos at any streaming events hosted by your organization
- Creation of a "day of awareness" or other event that makes use of videos in support of event
- Links to the Our Humanity video repository on URU's website (ururighttobe.org) may be shared through any platform or means of communication that does not violate terms in "prohibited use of videos".

Prohibited use of videos:

- Videos may not be altered in any way.
- The sale of any videos or other materials relating to Our Humanity is strictly prohibited.
- PSAs may not be placed on any illegal or inappropriate sites or media outlets, including piracy or pornographic sites.
- Stakeholders cannot use any PSA footage to create other PSAs.
- URU The Right to Be, Inc. reserves the right, in our sole discretion and at any time, to ask you to remove PSAs from any media channel where you have placed them that we may deem inappropriate.

Our Humanity PSA FAQ

Q: What is Our Humanity?

Q: Where can I watch the PSA videos?

A: The complete directory of PSA videos can be found on the Our Humanity page at uruthertobe.org

Q: How can I share these videos?

A: You can share the videos through the video directory on URU's website or through Facebook, Twitter, or YouTube.

Q: Where can I learn more about COVID-19 prevention and safety?

A: You can keep up to date on COVID-19 safety guidelines by visiting the websites of organizations such as National Institutes of Health, National Minority Quality Forum, American Public Health Association, and World Health Organization. You can also check local guidance about testing, reopening, and travel.

URU The Right to Be, Inc. core principles:

URU's mission is to foster communication and understanding among diverse people using multimedia solutions at the intersection of the arts, humanities, science and technology. Our goal is to move all stakeholders toward a more equitable and humane world. We are guided by the following core principles:

- Equity: We believe that each person should be afforded the same access, and opportunities, and respect, such that we all feel valued in the communities in which we participate.
- Inclusion: We believe we are stronger and more resilient when everyone is welcome, regardless of age, ability, race, religion, ethnicity, sex, gender, sexual orientation, citizenship, veteran status, level of education, and socioeconomic class.
- Integrity: We believe that it is essential to adhere to our values and principles through all circumstances, and to commit ourselves to be morally upstanding members of our communities. In a time when our highest leadership has become ingrained in a pattern of lying, we must become exemplars of a new paradigm that values honesty.

Sample letter for organizations to engage their constituents

Dear ____,

The COVID-19 pandemic has given rise to an unprecedented worldwide crisis. In the United States, which has experienced the largest number of COVID-19 cases and deaths of any country in the world, communities of color have been disproportionately impacted by this crisis. Black, Latinx, and Native communities, which have been made vulnerable by centuries of systemic racism and neglect, are suffering enormously from both the health-related and economic impacts of COVID-19.

Since the country began its reopening, COVID-19 infection rates have skyrocketed to an all-time high and COVID-19 deaths have subsequently spiked back to devastating levels. Amidst this worsening crisis, our country and communities have also suffered from a gap in clear, coordinated, and effective messaging about how to stay safe and navigate the many challenges presented by the pandemic.

The Our Humanity media movement is designed to remedy this problem by delivering timely, accurate, and relevant information to communities of color that are being severely impacted by the COVID-19 crisis. Utilizing video messages created by thought leaders and influencers across a wide range of sectors, Our Humanity will provide crucial information about how to stay safe, healthy, and collectively strong through this unprecedented crisis. By creating messaging that is specifically tailored to communities of color and delivered by individuals who are trusted and respected in their respective communities, this campaign will provide essential guidance for navigating the many challenges presented by the pandemic.

[Your organization's name] is partnering with URU, The Right to Be, Inc. to disseminate this crucial messaging to its target populations by sharing Our Humanity messaging through our network and on our outreach platforms.

Please follow the advice presented in these videos and share them with others you know who might be interested.

Striving together in a spirit of solidarity and responsibility, we will keep ourselves, our families, and our communities resilient through this crisis.

Sincerely,

[Organization leader]
