

Kofax Technology Accelerator Workshop

It's time to get the most out of your Kofax software investment. Much of the time, software implementations remain static. This represents a missed opportunity to streamline business processes, add efficiencies, and reduce costs with software capabilities you already own. During this workshop, Genus automation specialists collaborate with your team to focus on document and process automation improvements, all with a goal of maximizing the capabilities you have in place. Let us help you accelerate business processes, optimize workforce performance, improve service levels, and reduce costs with your Kofax technology.
