Fraud

The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) defines two basic categories of fraud: intentional misstatement of financial information and misappropriation of assets (or theft). Other audit-related organizations provide additional insight into the definition of fraud that can be summarized as follows:

Fraud consists of an illegal act (the intentional wrongdoing), the concealment of this act, and the deriving of a benefit (converting the gains to cash or another valuable commodity).

Legally, fraud can lead to a variety of criminal charges including theft, embezzlement, and larceny – each with its own specific legal definition and required criteria – each of which can result in severe penalties and a criminal record.

Waste “Waste” means the thoughtless or careless expenditure, consumption, mismanagement, use, or squandering of resources owned or operated by Goodwill to the detriment or potential detriment of the organization. Waste also includes incurring unnecessary costs because of inefficient or ineffective practices, systems, or controls. Waste does not normally lead to an allegation of “fraud”, but it could.

Abuse

“Abuse” means the excessive, or improper use of something, or the use of something in a manner contrary to the natural or legal rules for its use; the intentional destruction, diversion, manipulation, misapplication, maltreatment, or misuse of resources owned or operated by Goodwill ; or extravagant or excessive use so as to abuse one’s position or authority. “Abuse” does not necessarily lead to an allegation of “fraud”, but it could.

Examples of fraud, waste, and abuse activities include, but are not limited to:

- Forgery or alteration of documents (checks, contracts, purchase orders, invoices, time sheets, leave records, etc.).
- Misrepresentation of information on documents (employment history, time sheets, leave records, travel reimbursement requests, financial records, etc.).
