HAPPINESS AND WEALTH:
Exodus in the “Golden Haggadah”
Barcelona, 1320

→ Try to guess why this haggadah is called the “Golden Haggadah.”
→ Look at the clothes worn by the people in the picture. From which period in history do you think they are?

→ Make your own Golden Haggadah: color the drawing, add speech bubbles to the characters, and turn it into a comic book.

Want to know more about the “Golden Haggadah”? Scan the code →
PILGRIMAGE:
Jerusalem in the Venice Haggadah, 1609

→ Look closely at the illustration. Do you notice anything strange?
→ Do you think the city in the picture looks like Jerusalem?
→ Try to guess who the people coming to the city are and where are they coming from. Who is the man at the front of the image?

Want to see the antique Venice Haggadah in full? Scan the code →

Did you know?
The National Library’s collection of Haggadot is the largest of its kind in the world. Come visit! →

→ Color the picture and write a short story to go along with it. You can share your finished story with your family on seder night.

Did you know?
The National Library’s collection of Haggadot is the largest of its kind in the world. Come visit! →

Did you know?
The National Library’s collection of Haggadot is the largest of its kind in the world. Come visit! →
THE EMPEROR WATCHES OVER SEDER:

A Family Celebrating Passover, Austria, 19th Century

→ Notice the hats worn by the seder participants. Try to guess who each person is and what their profession is.

→ Look closely and try to figure out which part of the seder the family is up to.

→ How is the seder in the picture similar to your family’s seder? How is it different?

→ Is there a family member who isn't celebrating Passover with you this year? Cut out the postcard, write a note, take a photo, and send it to them as a holiday greeting!
FROM SLAVERY TO FREEDOM:
Jewish Soldiers in the British Army, Benghazi Haggadah, Libya, 1943

The image is divided into two parts. Try to identify what is happening at the top and the bottom.

What type of “slavery” do you think the soldiers in the picture are coming out of in their move toward freedom? If you could ask them a question, what would you ask?

Ask older members of your family if they ever celebrated seder night away from their home and family and under what circumstances.

How did Jewish soldiers come to be in Libya? To find out more about the Benghazi Haggadah, scan the code →