

Since 1953, PSA has represented the complex and growing $100+ billion plus shipping industry and ecosystem. Member companies include shippers, vendors, retailers, producers, warehouses, logistics companies, software companies, and more. PSA members have access to postal, legislative, and shipping market leaders as well as the knowledge, resources, and support needed to be successful.

Focus Areas

Championing e-Commerce

We advocate for the best interests of the e-commerce ecosystem in its entirety. Simply stated, we fight to ensure our members receive efficient, affordable, and consistently reliable service to benefit the experiences of members and customers alike.

Protecting Members' Regulatory Interests

Legislative changes can have a profound impact on the e-Commerce marketplace. We actively participate and partner with other Advocacy groups to ensure legislative activity at the Federal, State, and Municipal level does not distrust business from providing the American people with the goods and services they need.

Supporting Member Relations at USPS

The USPS is a significant player in B-to-C commerce and we represent our members on all things Postal. USPS is a complex Agency, and our experience ensures that members can navigate the bureaucracy and leverage the USPS' unparalleled delivery network to grow their business.

Membership Types

Sole Proprietors

Individuals, such as consultants, not affiliated with a company who work in, or around, the shipping ecosystem.

Associate Members

Consultants, manufacturers, and other business entities that are involved in the physical shipping ecosystem. This does not include tech enablers or shippers.

e-Commerce & Retail Shippers

Companies described as shippers for e-commerce or retail related goods.

Enablers

Companies which provide technology that enables commerce, postage providers, and re-sellers.

All shippers have benefitted from PSA's work but only members have a voice at the table in future of the marketplace and evolution of the industry.

packageshippers.org