

Lecture Series 2022

One of six free lectures in the 2022 Lecture Series!

6 - 7 PM in Dairy Barn Lecture Hall
1290 Richmond Rd, Staunton, VA 24401

Tuesday, November 1

Tradition to Industry: Pottery in the Shenandoah Valley

Speaker: Scott H. Suter, Bridgewater College

Shenandoah Valley Pottery by Emanuel Suter

Emanuel Suter learned the pottery craft in a traditional manner and practiced the trade on his farm in the central Shenandoah Valley. As a refugee from the Civil War, he traveled to Pennsylvania in 1864, where he began to work for an established pottery manufactory. While there he absorbed ideas about how an industrial pottery could operate. Upon his return to the Valley in 1865, Suter set about restructuring his own pottery.

Attendees are strongly encouraged to wear face masks.

For COVID and weather updates please visit our Facebook page or call the Visitor Center (540) 332-7850.

Recordings of this and past lectures are available at www.frontiermuseum.org.

Generously funded by:

